Message from the Mayor

Mayor's message to be prepared post-briefing.

How we got here

What is a strategy? Why should we have one?

Development of a Youth Strategy provides an opportunity for young people to communicate their concerns and needs to local government. In 2014, Northern Grampians Shire Council's Youth Action Council launched their Youth Strategy (2014-17), the first ever youth strategy for the Shire. Since then, engagement with young people has been project-based, for example the recent development of the North Park Precinct Skate Park. In the current Council Plan, 2021-2025, Council determined to undertake a Youth Strategy and thus embed a more strategic approach to working with young people to plan their future.

Young people are the future of our community. The Youth Strategy is a clear step towards prioritising the empowerment of young people in our municipality, to have a role in decision making and to ensure that the diverse needs of young people connected to Northern Grampians Shire are considered.

Background research and strategy development

This strategy has been collaboratively developed with young people who live, work, study or play in Northern Grampians Shire; council staff; service providers to young people; parents and carers of young people; and the community. This process was coordinated by a project reference group with representatives from Council, council staff, schools and service providers to young people.

When preparing this strategy, key research has been completed and relevant policies and strategies consulted. This included:

- Review of the socio-demographic profile of young people in Northern Grampians Shire, and identification of the key concerns that emerged from the data
- Analysis of the factors that impact on the lives of young people in Northern Grampians Shire
- Review of local, state and national reports, policies and strategies that are relevant to young people and supporting future directions and opportunities

Defining 'youth'

The age range for young people or youth varies across national and international groups and organisations. For the purpose of this strategy, we are defining youth as any young person aged from 12 to 24 years.

The period of childhood preceding youth, often called 'the middle years' (from approximate age of eight to 12 years), involves a cohort of children that are also experiencing significant change and are often overlooked in both policy and planning. Where possible we aim to expand our work through the youth strategy to involve our community members from this group.

Important documents

The UN Convention on the Rights of a Child

“The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, or UNCRC, is a special agreement made by governments from all around the world (including Australia) to ensure every child, no matter who they are, where they live or what they believe, has rights.

After listening and learning from the experts, most countries that make up the United Nations agreed on 54 different rights that every child under 18 should have to live a safe, healthy and happy life.” (UNICEF Australia, 2024)

Most pertinent to our Youth Strategy are:

Article 12

‘Children have the right to say what they think should happen when adults are making decisions that affect them and to have their opinions taken into account.’

This demonstrates the responsibility that all levels of government that make decisions that impact on young people have to provide young people with the opportunity to share their opinions on matters that will affect them. The Youth Strategy has been informed by young people, and also proposes that an ongoing youth advisory structure be introduced in Northern Grampians Shire Council.

Article 31

‘Children have the right to relax, play and to join in a wide range of leisure activities.’

Furthermore, young people’s participation in social opportunities, connection to outdoor environment and physical activity has proven benefits for physical and mental health (Better Health Channel, 2023; White, M.P., Alcock, I., Grellier, J. et al, 2019). As providers of open spaces, recreation facilities, holiday programs and other events, our council plays a direct role in assisting young people to exercise their right to be involved in a range of leisure activities.

The Child Friendly Cities Initiative (CFCI)

A child-friendly city is a city, town, municipality or any system of local governance committed to fulfilling child rights as articulated in the Convention on the Rights of the Child. It is a city or municipality where the voices, needs, priorities and rights of children are an integral part of public policies, programmes, and decisions. (UNICEF, 2023)

A “Child Friendly City” is a city or community aiming to become a place where children and young people:

- Have a good start in life and grow up healthy and cared for
- Have access to essential services
- Experience quality, inclusive and participatory education and skills development
- Express their opinions and influence decisions that affect them
- Participate in family, cultural, city/community and social life
- Live in a clean, unpolluted and safe environment with access to green spaces
- Meet friends and have places to play and enjoy themselves
- Are safe and protected from exploitation, violence and abuse
- Have a fair chance at life regardless of their ethnic origin, religion, income, gender or ability.

Northern Grampian's Shire Council's Youth Strategy has been developed with these nine components acting as guiding principles. We want young people to love where they live, and to thrive. To achieve this, we need to listen to their ideas, concerns and priorities for Northern Grampians Shire and continually work to understand and address barriers to inclusion and participation in our communities.

Victorian State Government Youth Strategy

In August 2022 the Victorian State Government launched their youth strategy. Created in consultation with thousands of young people during their hardest years in recent history (the coronavirus pandemic), their strategy, 'Our promise, Your future', sets out a framework for the Victorian State Government's work over a five-year period. The priorities identified in Victoria's youth strategy, listed below, have also been closely reviewed and reflected in the creation of the themes and objectives within our council's youth strategy. The six priorities of the Victorian State Government Youth Strategy are:

- Young people are healthy and well
- Young people are safe and secure
- Young people achieve their goals through education, training and employment
- Young people are respected and involved in decisions in their communities
- Young people are confident and strong in their identity and culture and are supported in their community
- Services are coordinated, responsive and accessible.

Northern Grampians Shire Council Child Safety and Wellbeing Policy

In 2017 Northern Grampians Shire Council adopted their Child Safety and Wellbeing Policy which commits to creating and sustaining an environment where children are safe, valued and protected. This policy applies to all Councillors and staff, and people engaged as a contractor, agency staff, volunteers and students over the age of 18 on placement. Northern Grampians Shire Council firmly commits to the cultural safety of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children and young people, and children and young people from culturally and/or linguistically diverse backgrounds, in addition to the provision of a safe environment for children and young people with a disability, as well as other vulnerable groups in this age cohort. This policy also highlights Council's legal responsibilities including risk management, duty of care and mandatory reporting.

Northern Grampians Shire Council Plan (2021-2025) and Community Vision (2041)

The Council Plan outlines the strategic objectives of Northern Grampians Shire Council and how it will work toward achieving them. In the current Council Plan, 2021-2025, Council determined to undertake a Youth Strategy to prioritise the support of young people. The Northern Grampians Shire Community Vision sets community priorities for the next 20 years and informs strategic planning and decision-making processes for the future of Northern Grampians Shire. Many of the priorities in the Community Vision mirror those identified by young people and featured in this strategy. The key objectives and actions identified in this document also work alongside the broader goals in the Council Plan.

Shire demographics and diversity

Population

There are 1,736 young people (aged 10 to 24) in Northern Grampians Shire, making up almost 15 percent of the population in our municipality. (Census, 2021) Based on population forecasting, this is predicted to decline to 1,320 by 2036 (Victoria in Future projection, 2023).

Percentage of young people in Northern Grampians aged 10 to 24 years.

Diversity

Thirty-three young people aged 12 to 24 years identify as Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander.

Fifty-five young people (4.7 percent) aged from 12 to 24 have a disability that required them to seek daily assistance with communication, mobility and/or self-care.

Filipino, Somali and Tagalog most common languages (other than English) spoken at home for young people 12 to 24 years old in Northern Grampians Shire. (Census 2021)

Disengagement

The number of Northern Grampians young people who are not in any paid work or enrolled in any education is almost double for 15-19 year-olds (Census 2021).

To be considered 'fully engaged' a young person must be studying or working full-time, or both studying part-time and working part-time. A 'partially-engaged' young person either works or studies part-time.

Table 1: Percentage of 15-24 year-olds that are disengaged from work and education.

The Resilience Project

From 2018 to 2021 Northern Grampians Shire Council and both primary and secondary schools in the municipality enlisted the support The Resilience Project to provide a program to help build mental health resilience among students, staff and the wider school communities. The project focused on gratitude, empathy, mindfulness and emotional literacy as key elements to build resilience, to give participants the tools they need to grow a strong foundation for good mental health. As part of the program, students from years three to 12 completed the Resilient Youth Australia Survey that reported on three key areas: connected (to themselves and others), protected (to protect themselves and be protected by others) and respected (to respect themselves and be respected by others). Important data from the 2021 survey showed:

Students in Years 7-12:

Students in Years 3-12:

This last statistic, which demonstrated that on average only just over one quarter of the young people surveyed (822 students) were very hopeful about their future, is alarming. It is important to note however, that when the most recent survey was conducted, young people were being confronted with one of the most challenging events in their lifetime – the coronavirus pandemic. It is also encouraging to note that hope can be cultivated, and ongoing support of young people from our communities plays a vital role improving the outlook that they have for their future.

Workshops with students at St Arnaud and Stawell Secondary Colleges

In September and October 2023, we facilitated workshops with student leadership groups (a total of 33 students) from years seven through to 12 to take a closer look into the emerging priorities from the youth survey and co-design solutions to tackle these issues.

The top four priorities across both schools were:

- Creation of safe spaces and opportunities for emotional expression (youth boxing classes, emotional journalling initiative)
- Face-to-face presentations and talks about mental wellbeing
- Creation of mental health support groups for young people and parents supporting young people

Discrimination/bullying

- Increase awareness of the impact of discrimination and promote pro-social behaviours (e.g. what is a good friend)
- Local campaign to bring more awareness to discrimination in Northern Grampians Shire
- A 'Where to go?' campaign for both victims and perpetrators of bullying or discrimination
- LGBTQIA+ support groups

Boredom / nothing to do

- Targeted activities for youth at community events/shows and single day activities (e.g. go-kart racing)
- Creation of a youth space with arcade, food
- Improve promotion of local events and clubs/groups available to young people
- Enhance open spaces for outdoor activities (basketball court in central location, mountain bike tracks in local bush/forest areas, more recreational fishing opportunities)
- Increase creative opportunities for YP through groups
- Improved access to events/activities through transport provision
- Creation of youth group with regular guest speakers

Rural isolation / transport access

- Return of the train service to/from Stawell
- Increase the number of bus services through Stawell and St Arnaud
- Better promotion of public transport availability in NGS and process for purchasing tickets
- Improve safety for e-scooter use with dedicated pathways

Strategy Action Plan

The next seven pages map out the key actions for NGSC's (Northern Grampians Shire Council) Youth Strategy for the next five years. They are categorised by key themes and the objectives we aim to achieve throughout 2024 to 2028.

Council's role:

Advocate - NGSC will publicly recommend or support the action described

Partner - NGSC will work with other key stakeholders to deliver the action

Deliver - NGSC will deliver the action

Theme 1: Young people are connected and have a voice

Being connected to community can take place in various ways. It might be when a person feels like they belong, are included and are valued for who they are. It can also be connecting with sporting, recreational and volunteering opportunities that a person enjoys.

In a municipality that is youth-friendly, young people are active agents where their voices are heard, valued and influence decision making processes. Young people are experts in their own lives and care about the communities they are connected to. They also bring enthusiasm and new ideas for the future of our shire. It is also vital that young people are recognised as a diverse group including different genders and sexualities, First Nations people, those living with a disability, culturally and linguistically diverse or newly arrived people, young parents, students, workers and those living in isolated areas.

Theme 2: Young people are safe and well

Feelings of safety can be impacted by the physical spaces we interact with, for example feeling unsafe in areas that are isolated or not well lit, or feeling safe in spaces that promote inclusivity. Safety also relates to our interactions with other people in person and online, including both those we know (friends, family and colleagues) and those we don't (strangers).

Being well encompasses both physical and mental health and is influenced by a range of determinants including the social and economic environment, the physical environment, and a person's individual characteristics and behaviours (WHO, 2017). This can include factors such as eating healthy food, having access to health care (including preventative health measures), being physically active, and socially connected to others, and the environment we live in.

Young people achieve in education, training and employment

To achieve their goals young people need access to quality education and training opportunities. It is therefore important that we play a role in creating spaces within our community that support the various learning pathways utilised by our young people, both locally and online. Diverse experiences and opportunities for life skill development are also imperative, to enhance independence and promote suitable work opportunities and positive employment outcomes.
